

Attached are the replies to the two RFIs.

As mentioned, I can find no millworking plan for the FAX shelf, nor the Teen booth.

The circulation desk millwork DOES NOT SHOW the three holes needed (about 3" diameter) needed behind each of the computer stations so that the video, keyboard, and mouse wires can be installed from the computer underneath. See A131, drawings #1 and #2.

Also, there is only one duplex outlet underneath each of the 3 stations at the circulation desk. The computer and the monitor will be using both of these plug-ins, and will leave us nothing to add any additional power for other devices (electric stapler, etc.). Could you please double the outlets under each circulation station?
